

Request Support from Your Manager

Ready to enroll, but need help getting support from your manager or training department? Use this message as a starting point and modify to make your business case for participating.

Hi NAME,

I am seeking to develop my communication and leadership skills to better serve our team and our organization. Menttium, is the leader in professional mentoring and leadership development and I would like to participate in their new Menttium Power90 experience.

This is a guided leadership development experience rooted in authentic human connection. With a focus on communication effectiveness, it will help me elevate self-awareness, hone my communication skills to better communicate with those around me and foster deeper collaboration with stakeholders across our organization.

The program is flexible to fit into my schedule and built to maximize the time I spend learning – requiring only 1-2 hours per week. The investment is $1,200 USD. Menttium is highly regarded and has been supporting individuals and organizations in developing, engaging, and growing talent for over 33 years. Based on the content and topics, I'm confident it will provide tangible and actionable resources and learning that I'll be able to apply immediately.

Some of the specific components include:

- Curated learning content supporting my growth in Communication.
- Self-paced exercises to drive application and reflection.
- Live sessions featuring seasoned business leaders from the Menttium mentor community.
- Social learning through a discussion forum and networking opportunities.
- Access to a resource library tools and resources to enhance the experience.

I hope you will support me by approving this request and helping me advance in my career. If you have any questions or need any other information, please let me know.

Thank you,

NAME
